Radio KOWL to start transmission of classical to acid-rock programs

"We’re still having a few minor difficulties, but we hope to overcome them and be on the air by October," says Stewart West, manager of the long-awaited Rice University radio station.

Beginning October 1 the station, whose call letters are KOWL, hopes to offer 41 hours of varied programming per week. Transmitting will begin at 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and at 7 a.m. on Sunday.

"We will play everything from classical to acid-rock," West commented. He added that such deejay will be given a format and a time period but is otherwise on his own.

Programs will have a limited amount of advertising and will have formats including show music, jazz, folk, a request hour, talk show, current live, soul music, a 12-4 um- under-, teen music, and sports, and editorial comments.

The idea for an all-station college station sprang from the old Houston College radio station, KHCL, which was in operation two years ago. Acting on this idea, West, who was also manager of the KOWL and KRCL stations, brought in the popular music and weather, sports, and editorial comment.

A radical view

By VAN DER NUSH

I am Van Der Nush, a Dutch author, journalist, and lecturer whose articles on... he said. "A lot of Jews would be alive today."

"What do you have to change about this week," he went on. "Referring to Viet- nam, he declared, "If war is as good a thing as they tell us, then why do we have to go all over the world ramming peoples' throats with a gun?"

Author William Burroughs, who had been in Lincoln Park the night before, rose to read a prepared condemnation of the cops. "The police behaved as vicious mad dogs," he said. "Why is this not controlled? Is there an ordinance requiring that vicious dogs be muzzled?"

"You step one foot out of line and they cut that foot off. Some of you are not going to talk about last night in the park."

"I was in Germany in 1935, and this is worse. There is the same feeling in the atmosphere."

A messenger brought word that the cops had poured 150 tear gas grenades into Lincoln Park that night. A group of ministers and demonstrators led by a 31-year-old priest from Minnesota, had been holding a religious service in front of the gas Grenade before the foot comes in one corner of the park at 9:30. The first gas grenade had landed in their ranks.

Wednesday, August 28

The Mobilization had been planned permission was again refused so a non-violent rally at- tendance at the Grant Park Band Shell, across the Illinois Central Railroad tracks and Colum- bin Drive from the Conrad Hilton. Nearly 15,000 people at- tended.

For the first time, a signifi- cant proportion of the crowd was made up of people who couldn't be classified as "hippies" or "jesus freaks," the Chi- cago police have been regularly referred to the dissidents. Meanwhile at the rally were middle-aged, elderly, many young women or neatly dressed and look more like their children. McCarthy born in the street, the representatives of Marcus Raskin's fourth party movement put in their first appearance of the week.

The rally was proceeding smoothly, having been jouped up by Norman Mailer's exclamation that "you people are better than you were at the Penta- gonal, and the cops would not let them crowd rush up to a flag pole at one corner of the meeting area, and began to lower the American Flag to half-mast. The cops quickly moved in, and there was a scuffle. Parade marshals, the more experienced demonstrators, moved in be- tween the cops and the crowd, and everyone was urged to sit quietly and hope that the cops would let them leave the area without provoking a scene. They could begin to leave the park immediately, and take to the streets in small groups.

Meanwhile most of the other demonstrators had been at- tempting to leave the park by way of bridges across the rail- road tracks, and two of them were blocked by the cops.

At the Congress Street bridge, Guardsmen with gas grenades, each carrying a round of tear gas into the street, were forced to shunt their heads in fountain to ease the burning in their eyes. In an incident at the Congress Street bridge widely seen on television, Guardsmen stopped an onrushing driver, fighter-jacketed, charged a grenade launcher loaded with tear gas through wholesale into his face, and refused her permission to turn and leave the Bridge. As luck would have it, the driver police on over $1,000.

It couldn't have happened here?

Because of labor union and related problems, there was revolution at one time that the Democratic National Convention might be moved to another city, and in the end there were only two major political demonstrations in Chicago the week after the convention. The carpet, which forms the base of the platform of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, was often mentioned as an alternate site.

The Houston Police Department, in an expression of support for the demonstrators, sent up a picture of a "zippo" in a trashcan. The book bore the caption, "Keep Chicago Clean."

The police don't understand this isn't our last stand

August 28. Gus arrested mostly middle-aged, non-violent demonstrators who had been in the crowd for five nights in a row. Many police were being told to tell the prisoners that they were not expected to be lenient. But the prisoners' unexpected leniency had a positive effect on the reaction of the police, who were already beleaguered by the demonstrators' actions. Many of the prisoners, especially those who had been in the crowd since the beginning of the convention, were wearing badges and face armbands, which the police were not accustomed to seeing from the front line of the police. Many of the prisoners had been set up in the front of the police line, which made it difficult for the police to move forward. The prisoners' non-violent stance also made it easier for the police to control the situation.

Urban Futures USA conference seeks student support

By LEON HORSMAN

A national student conference for Rice University has been under preparation since March, 1968. The conference, scheduled for March 28 to 30, 1969, is being called "URBAN FUTURES USA" (alias U.F.A.) and is the result of student steering committee activity. Meetings will be held in the Wise Private Dining Room. Anyone interested in helping shape this project is encouraged to attend. In practical detail, is urged to "tune in" on the activities that will follow.

U.F.A. will examine development alternatives for American urban life in the period roughly 1968-1969, has been entitled "URBAN FUTURES USA." Conference speakers, authors, dresses, and other participants will be provided by members of the U.F.A. steering committee, which includes students from the Rice campus, local high schools, and some out-of-town graduate and undergraduate students. The conference will be held in the Wise Private Dining Room. Anyone interested in helping shape this project is encouraged to attend. In practical detail, is urged to "tune in" on the activities that will follow.
