ABOUT THE MASQUE OF ANGELS

The story opens with the arrival of a flock of angels which has been called to the Chapel St. Hamman of Our Lady of Rice by Sandolfon, aide-de-camp to the captain, Metatron. Sandolfon assigns the angels their mission and reprimands them for their recent poor performance in carrying out their ministrations. Captain Metatron and his aides arrive to guide the angels in their endeavor. They are to witness an encounter between John and Ann, young lovers hesitant about committing themselves to one another because of the bleakness of their daily lives. The angels observe their deliberations and try to help bring them together through song, prayer and other more drastic (if not entirely successful) means. John and Ann finally overcome their doubts and agree to unite in marriage. Metatron blesses the couple, and the angels joyfully embark on their next mission.

ABOUT THE COMPOSER

Born in York, Pennsylvania, and currently residing in Minneapolis, Dominick Argento studied composition at the Peabody Conservatory and the Eastman School of Music. His credits include numerous important commissions and, in 1975, the Pulitzer Prize. Dr. Argento has become one of the most widely admired and performed composers of his generation. The Masque of Angels was completed in 1963 and had its first performance that same year at the opening performance of the Minnesota Opera.

The Masque of Angels is performed by arrangement with Boosey and Hawkes, Inc., publisher and copyright owner.

Mr. Jaber wishes to express profound appreciation to the members of Rice Chorale, the Shepherd School Symphony Orchestra, and the Rice Dance Theatre for the untold hours of extra preparation that has made tonight's performance possible. Special appreciation is also due Carey Kugler, Linda Phenix, and Karin Gastreich for their imagination and effort. Also, best wishes are extended to those who graduate this semester who have by joy or requirement given their time to the growth of Rice Chorale.

BIOGRAPHIES

THOMAS JABER, music director, currently resides in Sugar Land, Texas, with his devoted wife and their two perfect children. He has no hobbies except vacuuming. Mr. Jaber eagerly awaits a conducting debut anywhere, and he would appreciate a Christmas card from Dame Joan Sutherland. Since Peter Sellars (the opera director) was not available for this production of The Masque of Angels, CAREY KUGLER, a native and current resident of Charlotte, North Carolina, consented to direct. He also lives with his devoted wife and is expecting their first perfect child on 9/9/90. An avid golfer, Mr. Kugler will direct anything anywhere at anytime. Mr. Kugler admires Peter Sellars's biography very much. Though LINDA PHENIX is not from Arizona, she is the Director of the Rice Dance Theatre. A native of Austin, Texas, a city she considers to be paradise, Ms. Phenix is currently living in Houston with her devoted psychologist-husband, who she thinks to be a Bob Newhart clone. The only one of these persons pursuing a Ph.D., she wonders if Peter Sellars could have been a dancer. KARIN GASTREICH of Moundsview, Minnesota, ably assists and dances with the Rice Dance Theatre. Appropriately, in the fall she will begin a graduate degree at the University of Texas in Behavioral Biology. Ms. Gastreich has never heard of Peter Sellars.
