PRESENTATION OF COMMISSIONS BY THE COMMANDING OFFICER OF THE UNIT

TODAY those of you here being commissioned will go forth to join the comrades who have preceded you. True, the war as such is over, but there remains much for you to do.

As I see it, you are to relieve officers in the lower echelon in order that, by a process of fleeting up, those officers who have been carrying on the fighting for the last four years may gain a well-earned rest. Yours may not be the glory of battle, but you will have the satisfaction of knowing that your job is an essential one. I know you will do it well.

V. F. RATHBUN, Commander, U.S.N. (Ret.)
