

WM HEINEMANN,
PUBLISHER.

Telegraphic Address:
SUNLOCKS, LONDON.

21, BEDFORD STREET,
London,
W.C.

October 1, 1890.

My dear Mr. Caine,

We will have the MS. copied in the house, and I think you are safe to have it in about a week. It will be much more satisfactory than to send it to Miss Dickens.

You have made a mistake in the insertion of dates in the Agreement, which starts, of course, from the 1st January, 1891 - not 1890. Please make this slight alteration, and initial it. It is simply a matter of form, but if there is an Agreement, we may as well have it correct.

I have sent you 6 copies of "The Bondman" to-day. The one volume Edition ^(the 4th) will be out in about a week. You will be glad to hear that Petherick, who has had the Australian Edition of "The Bondman," tells me that it has had the best reception of any book he has ever published in Australia; better than Hardy's, Payn's, Black's, Collin's and Besant's, and all the others put together. He has already had 5,500 copies.

Very sincerely yours,

Wm Heinemann

Hall Caine, Esq.